A private elevator opens to a 22 feet double-heighted living room of the residence, the bright sunlight entering the bedroom through floor-to-ceiling and edge-to-edge glass windows wakes you up and gives a perfect view of Gurugram's skyline with the apartment housed at the 27th floor of Delhi NCR's tallest residential tower. This is nothing but reality, which comes to Amit Kumar Kedia, managing director of Higher Electronics Private Limited and proud resident of Trump Towers (under construction), a joint venture by M3M Group and Tribeca, at a price worth ₹14 crore.

Spread across a sprawling 6,050 sq. ft. area, ask Kedia niceties about his dream home and he mentions, "Residing in New Delhi's posh New Friends Colony, I had forever missed the concept of community living. The area lacked amenities such as swimming pool, clubhouse, secured living etc. With builders coming up with luxurious properties in Delhi NCR, the offer by Trump Towers was really incredible."

The 4 BHK semi-furnished apartment faces the golf area and a portion of it looks at the Aravallis. 1,000 sq. ft. of extended balcony, over 1,200 sq. ft. of living, dining and entertainment space, 250 sq. ft. of double-heighted party deck
